LAST RITES FOR PROF. E. ODLUM

Funeral of Late Vancouver Citizen Is Set For Tomorrow

Canadian Press
 Vancouver, May 7.—Funeral services for the late Professor Edward Odium will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. from the Mount Pleasant Undertaking Parlor, Rev. Dr. J. William O'Brien officiating.

The well-known pioneer Vancouver resident died Saturday.

THE FAMILY
 Professor Odium is survived by the widow, four sons, Edward E. Odium, Victor W. Odium, Arthur G. Odium, and one brother, R. W. Odium, all of Vancouver; one sister, Mrs. D. B. Graham, Pilot Mount, B.C.; nine grandsons, one granddaughter and one great-granddaughter.

Two sons predeceased him, Garnet in South Africa in 1904 and Sgt. Joseph W. Odium, killed in the Second Battle of Ypres in 1915.

BORN IN ONTARIO
 Professor Odium was born in Tulum, Ont. (then Upper Canada), November 27, 1866. He came to Vancouver in 1895. For the two years prior to his coming here he was principal of the Toyo-Kwa Gakko, a college of the Methodist Church of Canada in Tokyo, Japan.

In his early days in Vancouver he became interested in real estate and in the following years was associated as a shareholder or director with a number of financial concerns. He retained his business activities up to the time of his illness.

WROTE FOR NEWSPAPERS
 He wrote extensively for newspapers in Vancouver and published numerous pamphlets and some larger works.

He was a teacher during his career of Greek, Latin and science. He was a life-long student of botany, chemistry, geology, astronomy, ancient history, philology, Hebrew, Chaldean, Egyptian hieroglyphics, and above all, the Bible.

SENATOR IS TO BE NAMED

Probably a Democrat Will Succeed B. M. Cutting in U.S. Chamber

Washington, May 7.—The political consequences of the death of Senator Bronson M. Cutting of New Mexico, which will be decided in the way to Washington to vote for payment of the veterans' bonus, were pondered in the capitol today.

It appeared that the Liberal Republican's death might add to the overwhelming Democratic majority in the Senate. Governor Clyde Tingley of New Mexico, who will appoint his successor, is a Democrat.

Appointment of a Democratic Senator from the western state, together with the qualification next month of Senator-elect Rush D. Holt of West Virginia, would bring the party's strength in the Senate to seventy compared with a Republican tally of twenty-four.

President Roosevelt issued this statement after learning of the fatal crash: "I am greatly grieved to learn of the untimely death of my very old friend, Bronson Cutting."

The two remaining personal friends even after their political break over the veterans' bonus at the last session of Congress.

LETTER CARRIERS' ANNUAL DINNER

Members of Branch No. 11 Federated Association of Letter Carriers enjoyed an excellent dinner followed by a smoker in the private dining-room of the Douglas Cafe on Friday evening.

Toasts were proposed to the King by W. C. Cava, the latter responded to by the president, C. Tubbs. A very enjoyable programme was arranged by E. Faver. The artists contributing were: E. Tucker, cornet solo; A. Weatherall, vocal solo; J. Hoggar and E. Fullerton, accordion duet; W. D. Todd, magician; W. Cobbett and A. Weatherall, violin; G. Tait, violin solo; Stan Jakes, vocal solo; M. Gonnell, harmonica solo; W. Cobbett and D. Honeychurch, vocal duet; W. Cobbett, comedian; S. Honeychurch, vocal solo.

The programme was interspersed with community singing.

PACIFIC'S ALWAYS NATURAL FLAVOR

Vacuum packing made Pacific a better milk. Patrons found this by the change in flavor. Pacific has always kept the natural flavor, but now the flavor has improved and the difference between the old and new was readily noticeable. As a result the demand at once quickened. Incidentally, Pacific is the only milk vacuum packed in Canada.

The concern the Imperial Tobacco Company has always shown for the financial protection of its employees has been more than reciprocated in the splendid loyalty and efficiency with which they have served the Company's interests.

Should he desire to take advantage of the Company's plan of group insurance against death and permanent disability, he may do so any time after one year's employment. One-half of the cost of such insurance is borne by the Company. Policies in amounts from $500 to $3,000 are written on the lives of factory workers, at a cost to the worker of only 50 cents per month per $1,000 of insurance carried. Over 75 per cent of all factory workers, male and female, are insured in this way.

As a matter of further protection, the Company maintains a joint contributory Pension Fund, applicable for the time being to male salaried employees only, under which the employee on reaching a stipulated age, or prior thereto if incapacitated, or at any time after fifteen years service, may retire and receive for life a specified percentage of his salary.

In addition to the foregoing, the Company voluntarily makes subsistence allowances to those who leave its employ upon reaching the age of retirement, but who have not qualified under the pension plan. Every case is individually considered in the light of known facts, and dealt with accordingly. The Company disburses many thousands of dollars yearly in this way.

Pulitzer Award Is Criticized

Many Say Play "The Old Maid" Wrongly Chosen By New York Jury

Associated Press
 New York, May 7.—A blast of criticism sounded today in the wake of the announcement of the year's Pulitzer Prize play, "The Old Maid," by Zoe Akins.

The drama, adapted from a story of Edith Wharton, was chosen by the advisory board of the Columbia School of Journalism as the best American play in 1934.

Calyton Hamilton, who resigned last year after serving sixteen years on the Pulitzer drama jury, said the board had passed up the "finest play of this year and of many years."

He said that the jury had chosen "The Old Maid" and to Josephine Winslow Johnson for "Now in November."

Announcement of the awards in journalism and literature, ten in all, was made by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, at the annual dinner of the Pulitzer School of Journalism yesterday evening.

The prize play award, given for an original American play staged in New York, carried an award of $1,000. The novel award also amounted to $1,000. William H. Taylor of The New York Herald-Tribune won the $1,000 prize awarded for a distinguished example of a reporter's work with his series on the international yacht races last September off Newport, R.I.

"Bright Ambush," a volume of poems, won for Audrey Wurdeman the $1,000 prize for the American author of the best volume of verse.

Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of The New York Times, was given the $500 prize as the Washington or foreign correspondent with the finest record of distinguished service.

FOR CARTOON
 Ross A. Lewis of The Milwaukee Journal won the $500 award for the most distinguished example of a cartoonist's work with a cartoon entitled "Sure, I'll Work Both Sides," published September 1, 1934.

Charles McLean Andrews won the $500 prize for the best book of the year on the history of the United States with "The Colonial Period of American History."

The Sacramento Bee of Sacramento, Calif., was awarded the $500 prize and medal for the most distinguished and meritorious public service by a United States newspaper.

Jobless Riot At Weymouth, Eng.

Associated Press
 Weymouth, Eng., May 7.—Police barred the entrance to a hotel here yesterday evening when unemployed persons rioted at the door under the impression a Jubilee dance being held within was being paid for with public funds.

The crowd tore down the awnings of the hotel and threw fireworks among dancers who appeared on a balcony. Threats were shouted that similar protests would be made Wednesday against an official Jubilee reception by the city government.

Associated Press
 Newcastle, Eng., May 7.—Fourteen persons were seriously injured and fifty less seriously hurt in the collapse of a stand during a military parade held here yesterday in connection with the Royal Silver Jubilee celebration.

DEATH SENTENCE FOR VENIZELOS

Athens, May 17.—Former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, called leader of the ill-fated Greek revolt, was under sentence of death today for the part he played in the uprising.

A court martial passed sentence on the veteran politician under a couple of days ago and at the same time condemned to death General Nicholas Plastiras, who commanded the rebel troops.

Both Venizelos and Plastiras fled the country after the failure of their attempted coup. Venizelos is now living with his wife and son in exile in Paris.

BRITAIN LOOKS TO DEFENCES

London, May 7.—Studying Kipling, distinguished British author, yesterday evening told the Royal Family that Britain had cast away more than half her defenses to set other nations good examples. Finally, he said, it was realized "we had looked far enough along the road which was paved with good intentions."

Proposing the toast to Britain and the British people, Mr. Kipling said: "The destiny of this country depends on the British Empire, which is bound together by the Royal Family."

Discussing post-war disarmament, he said: "When the electorate was lulled by enchantment of all English women over twenty-one, it gave renewed impetus to our national ideal of an ever-rising standard of living."

"But . . . we chose not to provide that reasonable merging of external safety, without which even the lowest standard of life cannot be maintained in this dangerously congested island. We tolled as men toll after virtue to cast away a half, and more than a half, of our defenses in all three elements and to limit the sources of their supply and renewal."

DID NOT BEAR FRUIT
 "For several years—more than ten, I believe—our responsible administrators dwell almost with complacency on the magnitude of risks we were running and on our righteousness in running them. It was then realized that Britain's state-defended defencelessness had not borne much fruit and that we had walked far enough along the road which was paved with good intentions."

"It is now arranged that in due time we will take steps to remedy our more obvious deficiencies. But if the attack of the future is to be on the same swift lines as our opponents' domestic administrations, it is possible that before we are aware of it our country might join the submerged races of history."

Mr. Kipling, referring to the part played by the Royal Family in national affairs, said: "Three generations of our ruling house have accepted whatever burden of responsibility, whatever merited demand for effort, whatever of personal risk, the honor or needs of their people laid upon them. Each generation in turn has bowed the neck to unbroken sacrifice and devotion and patience."

"These things have come to create in us a sense of duty, a sense of duty taken-for-granted fabric of unity and silent discharge of duty, both in our islands and throughout our empire, on which our destiny depends. That, behind and beyond all, is our strength and our hope."

DUKE OF RICHMOND CALLED BY DEATH

Goodwood, Chichester, Eng., May 7.—Duke of Richmond (Charles Gordon-Lennox) died today at the age of sixty-four. He was third duke, possessing besides the title of Duke of Richmond, those of Duke of Gordon and the Duke of Athol, the latter a former French title.

Paris Papers Report Jubilee

Many Columns Devoted to King's Anniversary Celebration in Britain

Canadian Press from Havre
 Paris, May 7.—Leading Paris newspapers, filled for the last several months with discussions of the menacing political situation on the continent, relegated international affairs to a minor place today and devoted columns on their front pages to the British Royal Silver Jubilee ceremonies.

The Parisian observer said: "For a quarter of a century, the most troubled and tragic epoch, the reciprocal affection and confidence between the British sovereigns and their subjects have never been so high. Their is unique, and it constitutes a magnificent lesson for other statesmen and for other peoples of the world."

Writing in Le Figaro, Paul Morand said: "The leading and the obscure citizens of the so-called 'mercantile empire' have placed their country above money. King George can pass in the streets with his head held high."

The Echo de Paris declared that "from the celebrations yesterday the neutral observer may draw this moral—that for millions of Britons the monarchy is not an obsolete institution, but is to-day the strongest moral force."

Practical Protection

In industry, the study of ways and means of helping workers to improve their efficiency is accepted by a forward looking management as a never-ending duty.

Realizing that no worker ever does his or her best when beset with worry, the Imperial Tobacco Company sees to it that the workers in its employ have little cause for financial worry over what is going to happen in the event of sickness or death.

Every employee male or female knows that, if taken sick, he can count upon the Company for help. He knows that, without his having had to contribute anything to a sick benefit fund, he will receive, when laid up by sickness or some non-occupational accident, at least 50 per cent of his usual weekly wage, for a period that increases from year to year according to the length of service.

Should he desire to take advantage of the Company's plan of group insurance against death and permanent disability, he may do so any time after one year's employment. One-half of the cost of such insurance is borne by the Company. Policies in amounts from $500 to $3,000 are written on the lives of factory workers, at a cost to the worker

THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION

THE YEAR 1934 WAS IMPORTANT IN the history of the International Labor Organization. On August 20 of that year, the United States officially accepted membership of the organization, and a month later the U.S.S.R. also acquired membership by virtue of its entry into the League of Nations. Afghanistan and Ecuador became members in September as well. Thus, sixty-two nations now belong to the International Labor Organization, which has therefore reached a decisive stage on its way to becoming definitely a universal institution.

Its universal character has, moreover, been emphasized within the structure of the organization itself, as a result of the entry into force of the amendment of the treaty of peace—the application of which has remained in suspense for twelve years—allowing the election, for the first time, of an enlarged governing body. This new form assures a closer collaboration of the governments, employers and workers of extra-European countries.

These developments will afford the organization greater possibilities of success in connection with the problems raised by the depression throughout the world, which, owing to their great and varying scope, can only be dealt with properly by an institution of world-wide extent.

At its 1934 session, moreover, the International Labor Conference achieved definite progress by adopting a convention on the reduction of hours of work in automatic sheet glass works—to the same effect as the one it adopted in 1931, for the limitation of hours of work in coal mines. It is hoped to secure the partial revision of this latter convention in order to facilitate its ratification.

In another field, also equally allied to the social consequences of the depression, the conference this year obtained an important success by adopting an international convention on unemployment insurance and assistance for the unemployed. All the states which ratify are bound to set up a system which will ensure that persons involuntarily unemployed shall have either a benefit, an allowance, or a combination of the two.

At the same session, the conference extended the scope of the 1925 convention on compensation for occupational diseases so as to include additional processes, one of the diseases so added being silicosis; it also adopted a partial revision of the 1919 convention prohibiting the night work of women; the general lines of the convention were left untouched, but certain minor changes were made with a view to facilitating ratification by a larger number of countries.

The total number of conventions adopted by this year's conference therefore was four. It also accomplished the first stage in the preparation of two draft conventions to be submitted to the 1935 session for adoption. One of these concerns the conservation of pension rights of migrant workers, and is a question of particular interest for countries having a very complete system of social legislation. The other, aiming at the prohibition of the employment of women in underground work in mines, is, on the contrary, mainly important for countries which are yet only in the first stages of industrial development. The contrast presented by these two problems is characteristic of the wide field of action of the organization.

The great progress achieved in 1934 by international social legislation in extra-European countries can not be too greatly emphasized in this connection. Of fifty-seven ratifications of conventions which were registered during the year, forty-four were by countries of Latin-America and three by China.

If to these developments are added the visits of the director of the International Labor Office, Mr. Harold Butler, in the spring to Roumania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, in the autumn to the United States and Mexico—the missions of Mr. Maurette to Japan and those made by various officials of the office to South America, it will be found that this steady tendency towards universality stands out definitely as the leading feature of the activity of the International Labor Organization in 1934.

THAT "CORNER"

WE HAVE BEEN WATCHING SO LONG for that famous "corner" which must be turned before we pass from depression to prosperity, that our eyes may be getting a little glassy. It is entirely possible that we may get away past it before we even see it.

All of this is just another way of saying that a business revival could easily steal upon us unawares. It can not come overnight; there will be no abrupt transition from depression to boom. Instead, the pick-up must begin a little bit here and a little bit there. Then, one day, we might look around and make the pleasing discovery that things were a lot better than we had thought.

The auto industry in the United States, for instance, continues to expand. Auto production for the first quarter of 1935 reached a higher level than any in the last eight years with the exception of 1929.

Steel production, on the other hand, slipped nearly 5 per cent from February to March, although it remained 6.5 per cent above the 1934 level. Bookings of fabricated structural steel, meanwhile, rose 34 per cent from February to March, and machine tool orders jumped sharply, giving the first quarter an average 18 per cent above that for 1934.

Another encouraging factor is to be found in the fact that building and engineering contract awards rose in March by more than the usual seasonal amount. Residential contracts, in particular, made a gratifying gain.

Electric power production in March declined slightly from February, but the decline was somewhat less than seasonal and the March output remained 4 per cent above that for March, 1934. Coal production was up in March, and department store sales rose.

On the other hand, textile production in the United States in March fell off by more than the usual seasonal amount, security prices sagged, and wholesale commodity prices dropped slightly—although these latter remained 7.6 per cent above the level recorded a year ago.

It is hard to add all this together and get anything very definite. In the main, however, it may be said that the picture is encouraging. A slow current of business expansion seems to be at work.

A BRAVE MAN

FORMER PREMIER ANDERSON OF Saskatchewan, whose Conservative party was wiped out at the provincial general elections last summer, is to be the standard-bearer for the Conservative federal forces in the constituency of Saskatoon.

The chosen candidate is nothing if not politically courageous. He had a stiff enough job last summer; but when he takes the hustings and tries to justify the conduct of the Bennett government he will indeed be up against it. The people of Saskatoon, and particularly the Liberals, are awaiting his defence of the administration at Ottawa with more than usual interest.

As The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix pointedly remarks, Dr. Anderson's attitude on the Stevens-Cahane-Bennett controversy will be under observation. His views on the lack of policy on relief and unemployment will be a centre of interest. And there will be no lesser degree of attention paid to his opinions on such things as sound money, privately-owned central banks, inflation, Bennett bugles, loss of primary markets, prevention of trade, railways, the C.N.R. in particular and its capital structure.

Our Saskatoon contemporary, incidentally, notes that the nominating convention at which Dr. Anderson was selected revealed a striking party apathy as compared with the Liberal gathering. Nine hundred arrived to sign Conservative pledges and vote, while at the Liberal nominating convention 1,900 signed the roll and voted, and 2,500 persons attended.

Saskatchewan, of course, is solidly Liberal. It had a Liberal government from the time the province was established in 1905, with Hon. Walter Scott, now a resident of Victoria, as its first Premier, until Dr. Anderson, helped by a group of independents, managed to form a government after the general election of 1929. But there were more Liberals in that House than there were Conservatives.

It was not to be wondered at, therefore, that Dr. Anderson and his followers met with such a disastrous defeat last year. Dr. Anderson may win a seat in the federal House, although we would not like to wager on it, but he certainly will be sitting, if he does win Saskatoon, on the left of Mr. Speaker.

A TRADITION IS REVIVED

ONE OF THE ENTERTAINING THINGS about this continent is that every year or so it can forget all about its weighty problems and concentrate on some question like the one which is currently pressing on our attention, to wit: Did Mae West get married away back in 1911, and if so, to whom?

Somebody produced a rumor, first of all; then someone else produced a marriage license, and finally the bridegroom himself popped up, or claimed to. And Mae is issuing flat denials of everything, which makes it possible for all of us to take sides.

All this is a return to the old tradition, and it is somehow refreshing. Actresses are supposed to be ladies about whom rumors and legends cluster. It may be tough on Miss West to have the whole country arguing about faraway details of her private life, but there is ample and time-stained precedent for it.

THE SQUARE DEAL

THERE HAS LATELY TAKEN UP RESI- dence in London, England, one, Herr Ernst Steffan, a talented Viennese composer who was honored by a dinner tendered to him the other day by theatrical managers.

There is, however, an interesting story behind this bald statement of fact. While London war-time theatregoers were flocking to Daly's Theatre—no doubt there are many in Victoria who remember the long run of "The Merry Widow" at that famous house—to see the musical comedy, "Betty," its young composer was in Vienna, an "enemy" in an "enemy" country. By the time peace was declared, thousands of pounds had poured into the show, but in Vienna a young composer, penniless, was playing a piano in a restaurant. That young composer was Steffan. Then one day he received a letter from the management of Daly's Theatre—and in it was a cheque for $13,000, his fees and royalties.

It was this story which Steffan revealed at the banquet in his honor, and he seized upon the opportunity to pay tribute to the square-dealing and honesty of British theatrical managers. It may thus be said that this was a case of the theatre knowing no frontiers.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FRANCE—ENGLAND—ITALY
The Detroit News

From the British point of view the wise course is to do nothing to antagonize Germany, but rather to try to bring her back to the League of Nations, and eventually to the disarmament conference. This is not the French idea. France is still demanding security, but in some indefinite future; but immediately security secured by hard and fast defensive alliances. To these alliances Great Britain has no objection, provided she can keep out of them. Her policy does not look toward the "splendid isolation" demanded by Lord Beaverbrook, nor the role of a mediatory power, as some advocate, but rather to strengthening the authority of the League, with Germany again a member thereof. This conflict between the British and French views puts Mussolini in a strategic position.

A THOUGHT

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

ALWAYS BEHIND

PREMIER PATULLO hints broadly that the salaries of provincial civil servants may go up next year, those of federal civil servants having gone up a bit already. Even if the salaries here do rise, they are not likely to catch up to the rise in the cost of living. Actually the real wages of the average North American never did keep up to the cost of living in what we humorously call the good years; which is precisely why the so-called good years were succeeded by so-called bad years.

It is at this point that Mr. Patullo's idea of raising civil servants' salaries impinges on the key difficulty of our whole economic system, on a kind of comic lack, perhaps a fatal flaw in the whole machinery of capitalism. The point is that at no time do we ever give the workers enough to buy back the products they make. We can't still provide a profit for the owner of the machine over and above what he spends for usable products.

If you will sit down and think that out for a moment—hard, unaccustomed exercise at first but not so bad after a little practice—you will see why this must be so. Consequently, as the worker can't buy back all the products he makes, we have to sell the surplus to somebody else, a foreign market, in order to provide the owner of the machine with a profit which he can reinvest in more machinery.

Every nation is doing just that, so it is necessary to find larger foreign markets all the time as more machines are constructed. Hence Japan's need of China. Hence the United States' apparent plan to fight Japan for the Chinese market when its own people haven't enough of the necessities of life. Hence the gobbling up of such little nations as Abyssinia. And so forth in the jolly old fashion.

In fact, the whole management of a modern industrialized economy comes down, as Keynes and others have pointed out, to the problem of balancing the amount of money that should be invested in productive plant and the amount that should be spent on destructible goods. If you can balance that, the thing works. If you insist on putting too much into plant and not spending enough on destructible goods, your workers can never buy back the plant's products. This is known as the vicious circle, or something of the sort. It is a vicious circle, which are divinely inspired in their ability to state simple facts with a maximum of confusion.

In the textbooks of socialism it is known as the dread disease which will kill capitalism outright. Among economists it is discussed as something holy and far above ordinary comprehension because the economists, of course, have to keep their profession surrounded with superstition and fetishes if they are to make any money at it.

Actually, it is the most obvious thing imaginable and when the public finds it out, probably about a century hence, amusing results will follow. Meanwhile, the civil servants may get their salaries raised, but not sufficiently to enable them to absorb their share of the country's output.

SHOCKING INCIDENT
IN CASE YOU THINK that politics haven't been improving, this shocking quotation from The Pittsburgh Courier, of exactly 100 years ago, should interest and amuse you:

"The Lord Advocate is very busy canvassing the Leith district; but we suspect he is making more noise than progress. Whilst writing on this subject an extraordinary circumstance has come to our knowledge, to which we unwillingly attach credit, although the particulars connected with

NEW BRIDGE STREET

It has been detailed to us with a minuteness that staggers our incredulity. The circumstances to which we allude is a charge brought against Mr. Murray of having profaned the Sabbath by playing at backgammon on his voyage from London to Leith on board the Royal William steamer, which arrived in the night on Monday evening or Tuesday morning last. Placards containing this accusation... were yesterday very plentifully distributed in town, and posted on the walls in Leith and the other burghs of the district.

To the credit of our modern politicians it is said that I have never heard of one of them ever playing backgammon on trains or boats on the Sabbath. Usually they play poker, or bridge at a fifth of a cent a point.

WHAT IS IT?

APPARENTLY, the overseas premier, including our own Mr. Bennett, talked pretty plainly to the British government, the other day about the next war, which seems to be making highly satisfactory progress. They told the British government that the dominions would not be bound automatically by British foreign policy in the event of hostilities. In other words, we shall weigh the question before we add another couple of billions to our debt and another $6,000 to our debt.

This announcement from London may have shocked a good many stout patriots in this country. But it should comfort them to remember that while the dominions appear alarmed at the foreign policy of Britain, they aren't half so alarmed as the British people themselves. Apparently, they aren't any more alarmed than a goodly part of the British people are. Should have invited us to the party.

"Nonsense," said she. "I'll bet the King hasn't even heard of you." Under the impact of this solemn thought they both fell silent and slunk away home.

"Why did the King and Queen go to the Jubilee?" said he.
"It was a kind of a birthday party," I said facetiously.
"Oh, I suppose they were borned at the Jubilee like everybody else," said she.
"They didn't invite us to the party," said he.
"It was a grown-up party, you silly stupid," said she.
"But they had ice cream and pop, too," said he.
"Don't be silly. The King always has pop and ice cream every day. Even at breakfast," said she.
"Gosh, when I grow up I'm going to be a King," said he.
"No, too much ice cream and pop isn't good for you," said she. "It makes you sick."
"Maybe," said he, "that's why the King had to go to the Jubilee. All sick people go there. Should have invited us to the party."
"Nonsense," said she. "I'll bet the King hasn't even heard of you." Under the impact of this solemn thought they both fell silent and slunk away home.

'SALADA' TEA

Pageant of Empire Scheduled June 5

Between 3,500 and 4,000
Schoolchildren to Participate in Spectacular Commemoration of Jubilee
Year at Athletic Park

In what the director, Major A. C. Hinton, supervisor of physical education and cadet corps for Victoria, predicts will be the most colorful spectacle of its kind ever staged in Canada, schoolchildren of Victoria will commemorate the silver jubilee of His Majesty's accession in a Pageant of Empire at the Athletic Park on June 5, the closest available date to the King's birthday.

Between 3,500 and 4,000 children will participate in the various features of the event, a national and patriotic spectacle conceived with unusual imagination and presented after hours of diligent training by the young students, the majority of whom will be in costume.

GORGEOUS SPECTACLE
The pageant, gorgeously set in a splendid background, will carry representation of "Britannia" and all major nations of the British Empire. It will be the expression by the children of their attachment to the ideal of the Empire.

Throughout the afternoon the Victoria High School orchestra will furnish music under the direction of Al Prescott, while two other special sections will be presented by "the biggest band of its kind in the world," a rhythmic band under the direction of Miss E. G. Clarke, Spring Ridge teacher, whose system of music for rhythmic bands has been adopted by the local school board.

DAISY OF EMPIRE

A special Daisy of Empire has been constructed as the central piece in the setting for the exhibition. It will be located approximately fifty yards from the grandstand at the Athletic Park, and will reach eighteen feet high with a breadth of twenty-five feet. Immediately behind it will be an artistic representation of British Columbia's coat of arms, a flaming setting sun above a pictorial reproduction of water, flanking the dais on either side will be a line of eighteen-foot fir trees, thirty-five on each side.

Between the trees will be ten-foot panels bearing the different national flags of the sister nations in the British Commonwealth. Broom, interwoven in the lower part of the evergreen, will complete that part of the setting.

The dais itself, artistically colored and designed by Arthur Checkley, will bear a major throne for "Britannia" and smaller thrones for the representatives of the different dominions on either side.

GRAND MARCH
To open the proceedings, scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock, all those participating in the pageant will parade in a Grand March in the arena between the dais and the grandstand.

Swedish calisthenics will be demonstrated by a uniformed band of 400 cadets under the direction of Joe Ross, instructor.

They will be followed by 300 children doing the Maypole dance around fifteen Maypoles.

Another 125 children, in costume, will present the Irish lilt. About 100 high school girls and boys, also in costume, will be seen in "The Dashing White Sergeant." Efforts are being made to secure the Canadian Scottish pipe band to accompany the

First Night of Drama Festival

Keen Competition Indicated
As Adjudicator Comments
On Merits of First Plays
Presented

By B. A.

The fourth annual British Columbia Drama Festival, the product of the hard labor and great devotion of Little Theatre enthusiasts under the guiding hand of the association's president, Major L. Bullock-Webster, got under way yesterday evening at the Shrine Auditorium, and will continue all week.

Probably due to the holiday, the opening night's audience was not so large as succeeding audiences will be.

Four plays were performed yesterday evening, with twenty-five more scheduled. The curtain rises each evening at 8 o'clock and there are matinees Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 2:30 o'clock. The Saturday evening finale, when the week's winners will compete again, will start at 7:30 o'clock.

In the unavoidable absence of Premier Pattullo at the official dinner, S. J. Willis, Deputy Minister of Education, was called on officially to open the festival. In welcoming the festival, Mr. Willis drew the audience's attention to the dramatic work being done in the schools, and also paid a compliment to all those responsible for this fourth annual undertaking.

ADJUDICATOR'S COMMENTS
Lady Tupper, founder and honorary dancers in this section of the spectacle.

LARGEST BAND IN WORLD
Next will come what is believed to be the largest band in the world, about 4,500 children in red uniforms who will form the rhythmic band under Miss Clark. They will play Goldman's "Children's March" and the "Blue Danube Waltz" by Strauss.

Boys of Victoria High School, 300 strong, will form a series of pyramids before 100 girls from the same institution give a demonstration of Indian club swinging to music.

Presenting another of the features in the programme, 375 pupils from Boys' and Girls' Central School, colorfully garbed, will form a maple leaf, with a crown superimposed upon it.

PAGEANT
The real significance of the exhibition will be revealed in the pageant proper. From an entrance at one side of the dais, fifty flower girls in costume representing daisies, wild roses and other floral personae, will throng to the arena under the direction of Miss A. M. Patterson of Bank Street School. They will strew the path with blossoms from "The Strawberry Aeneid" and "The Garden of the Gods."

"Britannia" will enter, trailing the flower-strewn way. She will be accompanied by four pages in white satin costumes of the Tudor period and will be met by "Miss British Columbia," who will be attended by two pages in forest green. "Miss British Columbia" will escort "Britannia" to her throne, where the flower girls will form around that figure.

NATIONS REPRESENTED
"Miss British Columbia" will return to the arena to greet "Miss Canada" and her attendants, whom she will conduct to the throne to the right of that occupied by "Britannia." The "Misses British Isles," representing England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland, with their suites, will follow, escorted by "Miss British Columbia" to seats about "Britannia."

In turn "Miss Australia," "Miss South Africa," and "Miss India," all in national dress of picturesque nature, will be escorted to the dais to take their respective seats of honor. As the representative of each nation enters, the national air will be played by the attending orchestra. Each will bear her national flag, which will be run up on poles above the chair occupied by each representative.

GRAND FINALE
The grand finale will include the formation of the Maple Leaf and Crown again immediately before the dais. In front of that figure 1,000 pupils from the different schools will form in the design of the Union Jack, the color scheme of which will be carried out in their costumes.

Under the direction of Frank Tupper, the massed voices of all children present will rise in "Rule Britannia" and "Land of Hope and Glory." The function will be brought to a close with the singing of the national anthem.

director of the Winnipeg Players' Guild—which has an enviable record—came all the way from Ottawa to see her own company to carry out the difficult work of adjudication. In spite of previously announced plans, Lady Tupper visited from the platform yesterday evening, and she would give her criticisms at the end of each evening's or afternoon's competition. Though, as she said, it had been anticipated that such a gesture bestowed a certain advantage on those groups who performed toward the end of the week, she felt that to do otherwise would be impossible from a practical standpoint.

THE ADJUDICATORS
Lady Tupper, it must be admitted, did not indicate that any of the first night's competing groups had as a whole particularly caught her fancy, though she did touch on outstanding features of each performance, and (what is more important) she seemed herself to be a happy critic.

A very strongly felt and written performance was her comment on the first entry, "Why We Love Our Land," written and directed by Ross Temple and acted by the R.E.S. Players. But, as well as it could hardly be called a play, since at important junctures there was no effort to establish theatrical illusion. The theme, that of the land as the source of life, and that earth is the fundamental substance, tended to be told to the audience rather than acted. The adjudicator had praise for the singing and the acting of Alec Temple as the aged father, Ross Temple was the daughter, Ida Scheraga the mother, and Scheraga the husband, Gertrude McKeen, Dutch; Flo Tracy, Chinese; Eileen Chabert, Irish; Edna Wallace, Scottish; Irene Hole, Spanish, and Jessie Hitchen Smith, Turkish.

Lady Tupper described Philip Johnson's "Out Come Blue," a comedy put on by the North British Service Club, as "an entertaining performance of an excellent little play." She made technical criticisms of stage and lighting and pieces out of her own acting of Mrs. A. M. Primeau, who was also the director of the piece. As the wife who wanted off her rival through drawing-room scenes, Mrs. Primeau worked up to an excellent climax, in the opinion of the adjudicator, in the difficult role of the husband, H. P. Dixon was considered to be a little too young. Mrs. H. G. North had the third principal role as the rival for the novelist husband's affections; F. A. Butler was the butler (a fine addition, in the opinion of the judge), and Palomina Primeau was the secretary.

WINS PRIZES
Wilma Henderson, as author and director of "Reflections in a Chinese Pool" (Punch and Judy Theatre), came out with honors from Lady Tupper's remarks. Not only was there praise for the writing, but appreciation of the staging and lighting. However, the cast did not fare so well in its own hands. There was too much "saying" of the lines, and the presentation of "Kun Lee," the servant girl, being given the only performance of the night, was not very convincing. Elizabeth Ruggles in the lead was described as charming and lovely, but the adjudicator felt that the wrong interpretation of the character was given and that the reason was largely due to the fact that the actress was too young for the part, Maurice Hunter, Cecilia Layman, Edith Hinton, Bert Bailey, Gwendolyn Burton, and Edith Walsh made up the rest of the cast.

OUTSTANDING PLAY
The fourth play of the evening, Major Bullock-Webster's "Remorse," put on by the group and directed by Henry Worthington, was not up for competition. Lady Tupper expressed her regret at this fact, saying she thought the four young people in the piece "simply delightful." There was little doubt that this performance was the best of the evening both from the viewpoint of the lines that the players gave, and more particularly, from the viewpoint of the way the players treated these lines.

To borrow a musical term, this performance went over because, comparatively speaking, it never went off pitch. It got away to an excellent start when the curtain parted, revealing Constable. Robbs in a very modern-looking thing pose at a table, and Orrie Brantfoot busy putting a tennis racket in a press. Both these girls were "inside" their parts. Miss Brantfoot had the better role. Henry Worthington's touch was sure, and he got the most out of his lines—particularly when they had to do with the character of Constable. He held up his end in this excellent company.

To-night's plays include "Murder in the West" (Punch and Judy Theatre), "Our Husband" (Crest Studio Group), "The Jewels of the Larder" (Parthenon Players) and "Mabel" (R.E.S. Players).

Tribute to King George on the anniversary of his accession to the English throne was held at special services in city churches on Sunday.

At Christ Church Cathedral a huge congregation heard the service conducted by Dean Quinlan. The service was modeled after one arranged by the Archbishop of Canterbury for St. Paul's Cathedral at the special command of His Majesty. The service was attended by His Grace, the Archbishop of Vancouver, the Bishop of Victoria, and the Bishop of New Westminster.

At St. Mary's, where Rev. Canon A. del. Haines conducted the service, assisted by the curate, Rev. R. E. M. Verburgh.

Nearly 3,000 persons attended Dr. C. M. Davies' afternoon service of thanksgiving on the day of King George's birthday.

The service was carried out by means of a loudspeaker system. A special prayer was offered for the King.

FINE DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS

Causeway Lined By Thousands For Silver Jubilee
Pyrotechnic Show

One of the most spectacular fireworks displays ever put on in Victoria by the Hitt Pyrotechnic Company of Seattle held the interest of thousands of people in the Causeway amphitheatre last night to mark the conclusion of the celebration in honor of The King's Silver Jubilee.

The pyrotechnic display consisted of the usual bonfire, rockets, aerial bouquets, silver comets, ruby crystals, golden rain, and illuminated parachutes, the whole spectacle being capped by a specially-designed set-piece outlining in brilliant color the profile of His Majesty King George with the Canadian Ensign and Union Jack on either side.

The firing of the special set-piece caught the imagination of the vast multitude.

NO "DARK SPOTS"
There were no "dark spots" in last night's aerial show, the entire spectacle being completed with half an hour of the signal semaphores thrusting into the air about 2 o'clock. From that moment there was a continuous succession of fire into the stratosphere. Because of this intense display the exhibition was completed in much quicker time than is usually the case.

The show was fired from a barge moored off the Canadian National docks in the Inner Harbor and was under the personal supervision of Ray C. Hitt.

The fireworks display was the city's contribution to the silver jubilee programme and it brought the celebration ceremonies to a vivid close.

Immediately prior to the aerial display, the band of the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade, Canadian Artillery, gave a concert in front of the Parliament Buildings.

The next big fireworks demonstration to be held in the city will be on May 24, Queen Victoria's birthday. Mr. Hitt is remaining over in the city to arrange for this exhibition, which, he says, will have some spectacular surprises.

T. O. Hitt, founder of the Hitt Pyrotechnic Company, has a warm spot in his heart for Victoria because it was formerly his home city, and for that reason he invariably puts on a super show here.

Back in 1900, Mr. Hitt, who is a Londoner, ran a drugstore in Victoria and it was here that the fireworks plant, which is responsible for pyrotechnic displays in many parts of the world, was founded.

All J.B.A.A. members are requested to attend a special meeting at the clubhouse to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, when matters dealing with the arranging of events for the May 24 regatta will be dealt with.

There are TWO KINDS of Money

Do you know what is one of the most important laws in the world? Do you know what law was considered so essential that it was repeated no less than six times in the very first chapter of the Scriptures?

The Law that everything increases after its own kind! Sow wheat and you reap wheat—increased manifold. Sow dollars and you reap dollars—many, many more dollars.

That doesn't mean you can scatter them broadcast, and expect a harvest of fortune. You study your soil carefully before you put your seeds of wheat into it. You make sure that it is properly prepared, carefully harvested. You must do as much when you sow dollars. There are plenty of birds of prey to grab carelessly flung dollars, just as there are thousands of crows to gobble up the uncovered seeds of wheat.

Find out who is going to handle your money, before you invest it. Then learn something of their ability, their honesty, and just what they intend to do with it.

The successful farmer doesn't sow all his seed at one throw. He plants it in an intelligent proportion. In planting your dollars you should do the same thing. Plant them in an intelligent proportion, for there are two kinds of money. Some is principal, some interest. The principal you should put in the safest place you can find.

When the chance comes your way to speculate for bigger returns, use only your surplus or interest. You can afford to gamble with that. And if you use the same judgment and caution in picking your speculations that you did in amassing your principal, you will have a chance of getting a higher return from your small speculative investments than you do from your entire principal. And you will not be running the risk of impairing your capital.

Here are three good rules:

1st Before considering any speculative venture, set aside enough money for your needs—for food, clothing, shelter, and such luxuries as you feel you should have.

2nd Put a definite sum each month into your Capital account—into a savings bank or insurance or government bonds.

3rd Use only your "surplus" or "interest" for speculation. Put them into something which, if successful, will bring you big returns. "No man ever yet made a fortune," wrote Herbert N. Cason, famous English financial writer, "who did not begin with a risk."

For the man who is appealed to by this policy—who appreciates the fortune building opportunities afforded in Canadian mining as a place to plant a portion of his surplus funds—we have just published a booklet that you will be glad to own. It is called "Fortunes From Grubstakes." It tells the story of some of the vast fortunes that have been made in Canadian mining from very small investments. We shall be glad to send you a copy without cost or obligation if you will simply mail the coupon below.

Offer Prayers For The King

Special Services in City
Churches Largely Attended
on Sunday Afternoon

Tribute to King George on the anniversary of his accession to the English throne was held at special services in city churches on Sunday.

At Christ Church Cathedral a huge congregation heard the service conducted by Dean Quinlan. The service was modeled after one arranged by the Archbishop of Canterbury for St. Paul's Cathedral at the special command of His Majesty. The service was attended by His Grace, the Archbishop of Vancouver, the Bishop of Victoria, and the Bishop of New Westminster.

At St. Mary's, where Rev. Canon A. del. Haines conducted the service, assisted by the curate, Rev. R. E. M. Verburgh.

Nearly 3,000 persons attended Dr. C. M. Davies' afternoon service of thanksgiving on the day of King George's birthday.

☆ Important!

If you are one of the hopeful fraternity who is looking for "sure things" to make you rich overnight, don't bother to mail the coupon. We have never heard of a "sure thing" and make no pretense to having any.

When you put your money into any mine in its development stage, you are risking every penny of that money. As the greatest sower of seeds the world has ever known put it—"Except a kernel of wheat fall into the ground and die, it bringeth forth no fruit. But if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit."

When you put a dollar into the development of a mine, that dollar is dead to you. You have sown it in the ground. You can never use it again. But if it is sown in good ground and carefully tended, it will bring you vast increase.

And that is all we can promise you—that your money will be sown in the most fertile soil we know—that it will be carefully tended—that if ability and judgment can do it, your dollar will bring forth the utmost in return.

One other thing we can promise you: That you will not be bothered by salesmen either in person or over the telephone on our account. We employ no salesmen and never use the telephone for solicitation. We put our proposition down in black and white—the printed word—where everybody can see, and where there is no possibility of misinterpretation or misunderstanding. We have nothing to say that cannot be said truthfully and fully on paper.

If such a policy interests you—if you are one of those men who like to make up their minds for themselves, with no insistent salesmen to urge you on—you can fill in the coupon above and mail it now without the slightest obligation.

LONG-LOST BRIDE FOUND

After Thirty-five Years Husband Meets Wife Thought Dead

Associated Press. Colorado Springs, Colo., May 7.—A honeymoon which was believed for thirty-five years to have ended in tragedy in Galveston, Texas, is to be renewed in Colorado Springs.

Thirty-five years ago Dr. J. W. Lytton, now of Colorado Springs, and his bride, were married in Denver. They went to Los Angeles and thence to Galveston, where, after a brief stay, Dr. Lytton went to Buenos Aires, Argentina. His bride remained in Galveston.

Then came the tidal wave and hurricane of September 8, 1900, which overwhelmed the gulf coast. Dr. Lytton was informed that his bride had been killed.

Last week as he walked down a street in Cripple Creek, Dr. Lytton saw his bride of nearly two score years ago—and recognized her instantly. She did not recognize him, however, even when he stopped to speak to her.

After Dr. Lytton recalled incidents which only he and she knew, Mrs. Lytton realized that the man was her missing husband.

For six weeks Dr. and Mrs. Lytton had lived in neighboring houses in Cripple Creek without meeting each other.

Dr. Lytton, after leaving Argentina, went to Los Angeles, where he worked as a tramway conductor. Later he went to Seattle, coming to Colorado from that city.

Mrs. Lytton, who believed her husband had been killed, left Galveston and went to Tennessee. Several years ago she moved to Cripple Creek, where she has since resided.

CONSULS NOT AT JUBILEE EVENT

Canadian Press from Havre, Melbourn, May 7.—The entire consular corps here, excepting the Japanese and Italian representatives, declined to attend the levee at Rutland Fields on the occasion of King George's Silver Jubilee.

The consuls of the various countries explained to-day they meant no lack of respect to the sovereign, and pointed to the fact the British flag hung from their offices yesterday. They stayed away, they said, in protest over the fact that at the official ceremonies recently incident to the visit here of the Duke of Gloucester, consular officers were given seats in the front row.

St. Luke's, Tupper, says St. Luke's W.A. will hold a "tulp tea" in the parish hall, Cedar Hill-Crescent, on Wednesday, May 8, from 2.30 to 5.30 p.m. There will also be home cooking, candy, plants and flowers for sale. Friends and visitors are cordially invited.

Metropolitan Chummy Club was held on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. A. Curtis. The programme for the evening was in keeping with the spirit of the King's Silver Jubilee celebration. Mr. A. Sullivan was the speaker and gave a most interesting account of the early history of the city of Victoria, linking it most effectively with the present celebration.

Daughters of St. George—Princess Patricia Lodge No. 235 held their regular business meeting recently in the E. of C. Hall. The W.P. Sister Pooty presided, assisted by the W.P. Sister Peacock. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Sister Herring as convener of the recent banquet. A very successful "mock auction" was held. The winners of the raffles that followed were Sisters Jane and Bessy. Sister Burke was appointed convener of a rummage sale, assisted by Sisters Wright and Miller, time and place to be arranged by them later. It was also decided to hold a card game at the next meeting. At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

Hold Jubilee Tea—Princess Alexandra Lodge Daughters of England, held its social meeting in the S.O.E. Hall. Mrs. M. Porter presiding. The Jubilee tea, convoked by Mrs. L. Tyrrell, was much enjoyed. Games and cards were in progress during the evening. Mr. C. Smith won the prize for the lucky number; the prize for the puzzle game were won by Mrs. L. Bridges and Miss Cox. Much fun was enjoyed by the drinking game—the winners being Mr. and Mrs. McVie. Prizes for cards were won by Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Bridges, Miss Cox, Mr. Bridges, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Corbin. Those assisting at the tea tables were Mrs. Connell, Mrs. D. Bell, Mrs. Rutherford. Drill practice called for Tuesday at 8 o'clock, S.O.E. Hall.

Royal Society of St. George Holds Successful Annual Dinner and Meeting

TOAST TO DOMINION

Behind the rejoicing and prayers which had been said for their Majesties, the Sovereign had been affected more deeply than anything else, Stephen B. Lloyd said, in responding. He referred to the lonely road taken by the Empire in world affairs and suggested she would probably have to take it again as it was impossible to avoid, with three conflicting political conceptions battling for supremacy. Nothing should be permitted to transpire, from the throne, which meant so much to the British race, he asserted.

Messages from the following branches were received: New York, Brisbane, Ottawa, Uganda, Ireland, New Brunswick, Halifax, Toronto, South Australia, Wales, Japan and China.

Pittsburgh, May 7.—Doughty Gene Sarason, who modestly calls himself "a 100-to-1 shot," after looking the situation over, still sees Johnny Neivola, Michigan, as the probable winner of the United States open golf title next month. Gene went around the Greenbriar course in the tournament and he held and opined things will be much, much harder than in 1927, when Tommy Armour took the title here.

The master who has twice held the open title, in 1922 and 1923, figures that a score of 284 will be enough to take the title, but "you can bet the 284 won't be broken."

Plans for commutation or release sentence had been made to Governor Park by Miss McElroy, twenty-four, who said that in pleading for the kidnapper's life she also was pleading for her own peace of mind.

GREAT BRITAIN was the first country to issue and use prepaid postage stamps, yet it wasn't until 84 years after the first issue that any of its stamps revealed the country of their origin.

From 1840 to 1924, British stamps were identified only by the busts of the empire's rulers. Then, in 1924, Great Britain issued a set in two values in connection with the British Empire Exhibition, and lettered the stamps so.

But notice that no British stamp yet has identified its country as directly as do the issues of other countries. Only Ireland, the dominions, and dependencies have their names on their stamps.

Muzz Patrick and Rex Carey To Seek Canadian Boxing Titles

Go To Edmonton For Nationals; May Send Others

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Pete Tyson, Joe Effa, Eric Whitehead, Rudy Loeffler, Bill Griffin Mentioned

FUNDS NEEDED TO SEND BOYS

Murray "Muzz" Patrick, hockey and basketball star, who wandered into the boxing field and finished up with the British Columbia heavyweight championship following Saturday's final at the Armories, along with Rex Carey, a clever middleweight and provincial title holder, will represent Victoria in the Canadian championships at Edmonton, scheduled for May 20, 21 and 22.

Patrick will be sent to the national Carey, who has done a considerable amount of campaigning both locally and in the interior, will fly the colors of the Canadian Scottish, his sponsors for the trip east.

It funds can be raised, Pete Tyson, Canadian Scottish grappler, winner of light and middleweight championships, will also go to the national meet. All won their provincial titles in the amateur circuit of Saturday evening's amateur card.

Any other local fighters or wrestlers wishing to make the trip at their own expense may secure applications will make the trip.

Contingent also on the raising of funds, "Biff" Griffin, hard hitting boxer, who has been successful under the colors of the Canadian Scottish, and Tommy Dravdale, fifth brigade man and leading spirit in amateur boxing circles here, will make the trip.

Following the national tournament, local contenders who go east may journey to Calgary for an invitational meet in that city.

Entries for the national events will close on Saturday.

According to the schedule, wrestling bouts will be staged on Monday, May 20, with the boxing program starting the following day and winding up on Wednesday, May 22.

Boxing will be staged under the International Boxing Rules and the National League bouts several modifications. Wrestlers competing will receive a revised copy of rules adopted by the amateur athletic union.

Wrestling classes will include flyweight, bantamweight, featherweight, lightweight, welterweight, middleweight, light heavy and heavyweight.

In addition to the same standard classes, the boxers will have three other novice classes for featherweight, welterweight and middleweight.

Two years ago, Vance and Gordon Stude were traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for John Flowers and Owen Carroll. Neither team was helped much by the trade and it was considered just one of those things, in which the managers involved thought a change of scenery would help the players.

Vance had passed his peak and it was but a question of time when he would be given his unconditional release as a ten-year man. This came about during the spring training season. But there was one man who was not convinced Vance was not through.

That man happened to be Casey Stengel, who played a whole of a game as an outfielder in the days when Vance was setting batters down regularly. So Vance finds himself at forty-two still in the harness of the major leagues.

Stengel does not expect Vance to take his regular turn on the mound. He does think, however, the veteran has enough speed left in his trusty right arm to be thrown into the breach to finish up tight games. As Casey figures it, Vance will have more power and know what to do under fire than some of the rookies he will have turning up in the bullpen.

There may be another reason behind Stengel's move. In spring training his ace pitcher, Van Lingle Mungo, had been using a stunt with a torn right elbow. This used to be one of Vance's tricks. It was hard enough to try to hit one of Dazzy's speedy shots without the added annoyance of a flopping serve to temporarily hide the flight of the ball.

Is Dazzy going to show Mungo how to use that trick effectively? If so, to be the one Mungo is certainly going to be a thorn in the side of rival teams that have to face him.

CANADA'S GOLF STARS DROP FIRST MATCH IN BRITAIN

Captained by "Bandy" Somerville, Canada's touring amateur golfers, shown above, engaged in their first match yesterday in Britain and suffered defeat five matches to three by a Royal St. George's squad at Sandwich. Those in the picture, from left to right, are: Jack Nash, Kenny Black, Dick Moore, Somerville, B. Jacob, E.C. Winnipeg, executive member of the Royal Canadian Golf Association; Phil Farley, Bud Donovan and Gordon Taylor.

Sandwich, Eng., May 7.—The Canadian amateur golf team visiting Britain was defeated five matches to three by a strong Royal St. George's side over the Sandwich course yesterday. Two matches were halved.

"Bandy" Somerville, along with other players from London, Ont., who won the United States amateur title in 1932, was the best of the Canadians. He turned in a 72 in his four-ball match.

Score of the two-ball foursomes: Somerville and Ken Black, of Vancouver, halved their match with Lister Hartley and Thomas Bourn, winner of the British amateur in 1930.

Dick Moore of Vancouver and Phil Farley, Toronto, defeated Lionel Munn and Tom Hanny, five and four.

Fred Hobbs of Toronto and Bud Donovan, Winnipeg, halved with Robert Harris, British amateur winner in 1925, and Douglas Grant.

Tex Hartley and Harry Chittenden defeated Gordon Taylor and Edward Innes of Montreal, one up.

Alfred Evans and Capt. G. Noel Martin defeated Jack Nash of London, Ont., and Frank Higgins of England, four and three.

Alfred Evans and Capt. G. Noel Martin defeated Jack Nash of London, Ont., and Frank Higgins of England, four and three.

Taylor and Innes defeated Harris and Grant, one up.

Munn and Hanny defeated Nash and Higgins, one up.

Four-ball matches resulted as follows:

Robert Harris, British amateur winner in 1925, and Douglas Grant.

Mid-week Eleven And Chinese Draw

Victoria All-star Eleven and Mainland Students Play to 1 to 1 Deadlock in Holiday Football; Johnny Murray and L. On Are Goal-getters

Wednesday League all-stars and the Vancouver Chinese students battled to a 1 to 1 draw in the exhibition football match played at the Athletic Park yesterday afternoon before a crowd of over 1,000.

Both goals came in the second half. L. On netting for the Chinese and Johnny Murray driving home the tying counter for the Victoria eleven.

Played in brilliant sunshine and on a fast, dry field, the calibre of the match the players on both sides began to show up under the fast pace and the warm temperature.

Adopting a short passing game the Chinese had an even break on the play and their performance was well received by the big crowd. The Wednesday League eleven turned in a good exhibition considering it was the first time the players had been together on one club.

The forward line of the team was not as good in the first half as in the second. The half-backs and backs played smart football and, with Baxter in goal, were responsible for keeping the attacking Chinese forwards in check.

Outstanding for the Chinese was their veteran centre forward, Quene Yip. In addition to giving the pass for his team's goal he played a lovely feeding game and was always dangerous himself as a scoring threat.

First half: In the first ten minutes Victoria had two fine chances to beat 8. Wong, Chinese goalie, but drove over the bar on one occasion and wide of the net on the other. The Chinese finally broke away and Art Yip, centre half, attempted a long shot but it was blocked. On a fast attack, Stewart, outside left, for Victoria, tried to pick the corner on a pass from Worwick, but 8. Wong dived to push the ball around the post. Stewart's centre from the corner was blocked but the ball was cleared by F. Wong. Two free kicks were awarded the Chinese, but Daryl Bissell drove over the bar on both shots. Art Yip, Chinese centre-half, injured his right knee and left the field to be replaced by K. Yip.

Chinese came within an ace of scoring on Charlie Fong's shot. Baxter diving full length to push the ball to the side. Just before half-time, K. Yip shot and Baxter fumbled but recovered quickly to kick to the sideline.

Second half: Ten minutes after the start of the second half the Wednesday League had a grand chance to take the lead. Worwick took a pass from McAllister in the goal mouth and with only the goalie to beat drove the ball straight at the net. The goalie dived and picked it up and booted down the field. Quene Yip managed to work his way through the Victoria defence but his snap shot from the side was wide. Minutes later the same player headed a centre right into Baxter's hands.

After twenty-five minutes' play the Chinese went into the lead. Quene Yip took the ball at centre, flicked it over to the left wing and L. On met it with a first-time drive that found the corner of the net. Baxter was helpless to save the goal. The latter tied the score with a high shot. Half-time found the teams tied at 1 to 1.

Three minutes after resumption, Ashton, post United into the lead when he picked his own rebound and drove into the Ranger net. With thirty minutes of the half gone, Corlett passed to Ashton for another goal and a 3 to 1 lead for United.

Rangers pressed for the remainder of the half and Keddie tallied shortly before the whistle on a rebound from McNeill's shot.

Chinese Students: Wong, F. Wong, C. Cumy, C. Louie, A. Yip, K. Yip, Louie, H. Yip, J. Sun, Q. Yip, C. Fong and L. On.

Wednesday League: Baxter, O'Connell, Carr, Oakman, Bissell, Evans, Stewart, Murray, Worwick, Stevens and McAllister.

Defeating Elmer Morgan 5 and 4 over thirty-six holes, Norman Wallace won the Macaulay Point Golf Club men's championship over the week-end. Eric Wright won the first flight, defeating G. Moore 3 and 2.

In the qualifying round of the B class championship, G. A. Bruce and J. W. Holyoak tied for first place, each with scores of 68.

The draw for match play follows: Championship Flight: G. A. Bruce vs. W. G. Watson. A. Bruce vs. C. B. Brown. J. Fairall vs. H. J. Applegate. W. Allen vs. W. R. McManis. W. Poole vs. A. McCabe. E. A. Simpson vs. D. I. Burdon. S. A. Keeble vs. J. R. Sledge. J. W. Holyoak vs. J. W. Rawlinson. Defeated eight form first flight.

Second Flight: V. Long vs. G. S. Gibbons. J. Bethell vs. L. Pith. A. E. Simpson vs. L. Pith. A. Johnson vs. M. R. Grossman.

Tennis-ball pickup (seven years and under): J. M. Liffon; 2. R. Norman; 3. H. Wilkinson.

Paavo Nurmi Resigns Post

Helsinki, May 7.—Paavo Nurmi, Finland's world-famous runner, quit the Finnish Athletic Association to-day as a consequence of its decision to resume athletic relations with Sweden. He surrendered as well his task of preparing Finnish runners and athletes for the next Olympics.

The president of the Finnish association and the entire board of directors joined Nurmi in withdrawing from the organization.

NORTH SHORE WIN FOOTBALL

Defeat Vancouver Rangers 3 to 2 in Semi-final Round of Province Cup

Vancouver, May 7.—North Shore United yesterday defeated Vancouver Rangers 3 to 2 to advance to the semi-final round of the Province Cup soccer series.

Bobby McNeill opened the scoring goal twenty-two minutes after play when he drove a penalty shot into the United goal. Five minutes before the half ended Russell swung the ball over to Corlett, and the latter tied the score with a high shot. Half-time found the teams tied at 1 to 1.

Three minutes after resumption, Ashton, post United into the lead when he picked his own rebound and drove into the Ranger net. With thirty minutes of the half gone, Corlett passed to Ashton for another goal and a 3 to 1 lead for United.

Rangers pressed for the remainder of the half and Keddie tallied shortly before the whistle on a rebound from McNeill's shot.

Wall Street Stocks Display Weakness In Quiet Session

New York, May 7.—Despite the relative absence of news of the day, and continued speculation, the stock market was generally quiet, with a downward slant to today's session. The decline was attributed partly to technical factors and to a general feeling of uncertainty.

The close was rather heavy. Transactions approximated $50,000,000.

The metals, up at one time, turned soft in the final hour, and some other pivotal issues were traded. The major gains were made at Chrysler and General Motors. Chrysler advanced 1/2 point, and General Motors 1/4 point. The decline was attributed partly to technical factors and to a general feeling of uncertainty.

Among share gains of fractions to around a point were Standard Oil of New Jersey and California, Seaboard and Texas Corp., American Crystal Sugar, preferred advanced more than 1/2 point, and American Bank Note.

General Motors and Chrysler were about unchanged in the face of a more hopeful outlook in the strike situation. American Steel was resistant notwithstanding difference of the minor price changes.

Minor price changes appeared among shares of Canadian companies. Dominion International Nickel and Canadian Pacific ruled virtually unchanged. On the curb, Lake Shore was a shade lower. Dominion government was steady. Canadian funds 1-3/4 of a cent lower at 99 3/8-3/4 cents.

TO-DAY'S EXCHANGE

Exchange rates at 3 p.m. E.S.T. to-day:

Pound sterling, Montreal, 4.55% U.S. dollar, Montreal, 1.30 1/2-1/4. Pound sterling, New York, 4.54% U.S. dollar, New York, 30%.

OILS ACTIVE AT TORONTO

Toronto, May 7.—Heavy buying in oil at rising prices featured the oil market today. The industrial section of the oil market was active, with a general feeling of uncertainty.

Proposed dividend meetings of Imperial and International Petroleum sent both issues to new highs. British American had a loss of 1/4.

Nickel moved with the New York board, dropping a small fraction, and C.P.R. and Ford A were also mildly soft. Industrial Alcohol A was the active issue of the liquor group but closed around 10, losing the advance of nearly a point.

In the foodstuffs market, the steel and construction issues with gains showing for Cement preferred, Duffin preferred, Car preferred and Forest Metals. Banks were firm.

Influenza In Alaska Spreads

Pneumonia Serum Being Flown to Point Barrow

Associated Press

Point Barrow, Alaska, May 7.—Pneumonia vaccine was being flown here today as another settlement on the rim of the Arctic was suffering from the influenza epidemic.

The dreaded influenza, which has taken eleven lives in more than 300 cases here, has reached Wainwright, a tiny community on the icebound Arctic 100 miles southwest of here.

Pilot Jerry Jones, who is flying here with the vaccine, and Dr. P. B. O'Connell and Mrs. Eugene Brown, a nurse, reported the disease had struck at Wainwright two days ago.

"It isn't critical yet," said the pilot. He had been here aiding Dr. Henry W. O'Connell, heretofore Presbyterian medical missionary, and preparing to fly two polar bear hunters south.

Meanwhile, from Fairbanks to Kotzebue, to Point Barrow, the vaccine was being rushed, in an effort reminiscent of the taking of serum to Nome by dogteam in the diphtheria epidemic there ten years ago.

Pilot G. E. Robbins and Fred Milligan, mechanic, of the Pacific Alaska airplane, left Fairbanks late yesterday after the serum had been rushed there from Anchorage by train. Their plane was due at Kotzebue yesterday evening, to be met by Jones.

Meanwhile the situation remained little changed here today, although half a dozen victims still remained critical. All the deaths except one have been of natives. The dead were properly buried and sent by train.

Another plane, flown from Seattle by Pilot M. F. Kirkpatrick, arrived in Juneau yesterday evening with enough serum for fifty cases. It was turned over to Pilot A. B. Hayes, who was to take it to Fairbanks today.

During the last ten days of April this year, twelve custom shippers contributed 621 tons of ore and eighty-four tons of concentrates. San Francisco, Wash., topped the list with 168 tons, and another U.S. mine, First Thought, Orient, Wash., took second place for the period with 113 tons.

Company mines contributed 12,517 tons during the period.

Following is the list of custom shippers:

Smelter Receipts Rise During 1935

Associated Press

Rebun, B.C., May 7.—Receipts of ore and concentrates at the Tadenac plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company for the first four months of 1935 showed an increase of 17.5 per cent over the corresponding period of the previous year, amounting to 182,848 tons, compared with 155,596 in the same period in 1934.

Company mine shipments showed an increase of 26 per cent at 178,228 tons as against 141,506 but custom receipts were less than half time amounting recorded for the 1934 period only 7,610 tons being received from this source as compared with 18,571 up to April 30 last year.

Weekly Financial Review

Associated Press

Chicago, May 7.—All eyes in the grain trade are turning now to the spring wheat crop, moisture conditions for which are reported the best in five years.

Despite rain and snow, seeding of spring wheat has made rapid progress, and it is unofficially estimated here that more than 80 per cent of the 15,000,000 acres total expected for the United States this season has already been planted.

Influenced considerably by favorable prospects for the domestic spring crop, the Chicago wheat market this morning compared to one week back was 3½-4½ cents a bushel lower, corn ¼ to 1 cent down, oats 3½-5½ off.

Winnipeg, May 7.—The brightest spring-wheat prospects in years and trade statistics unfavorable to Canadian exports brought lower prices on the Winnipeg Exchange this week.

Barabara predominated on the local trading floor today.

Wheat prices during a week of flatness declined 1½ to 2½ cents, May to 6½¢, and July 60¢, due chiefly to generous moisture over

TRADE OUTLOOK IS FAVORABLE

New York, May 7.—Dun and Bradstreet in its weekly trade review declared favorable factors took precedence in trade developments during the week.

The conclusion was based on reports of a widening of operations in some industrial divisions, an expansion in mining and building activity and evidence of a broadening of consumer demand.

In the wholesale market, it was found that more buyers than week earlier found it necessary to freshen stocks for promotional events now in progress.

YOUR GOVERNMENT AND THE PROBLEM OF RELIEF

IN British Columbia to-day there exists the intolerable condition of a large body of unemployed men—recently domiciled in camps maintained by the Federal Government under the Department of National Defence—now supporting themselves as best they may.

Your Government has every sympathy with the desire of these men for gainful occupation; but the fact remains, that under the present system responsibility for the conduct of Relief Camps rests with the Federal Government.

It is not the policy of your Government to send single unemployed men to Relief Camps. It has, on the other hand, been its unrelenting task to prevail upon the Federal Authorities to assume full responsibility for unemployment in Canada. It has constantly pressed for the establishment of a National Unemployment Board and for the inauguration of a series-wide programme of useful public works and assistance to private industry—financed on the national credit of the Dominion—to absorb the unemployed in gainful work.

The present situation, deplorable as it is, is made more so by the activities of subversive elements determined to undermine all existing institutions. These groups have capitalized the distress of their fellows in order to gain their own ends. There has been intimidation of business establishments and encouragement in acts of violence.

Your Government, contrary to the general impression, has never required unemployed whose homes have been in British Columbia, to go to Relief Camps. The facts are:

There were on April 15 last, 40% single men in National Defence Relief Camps in British Columbia, while the Province maintained 15,500 single men and women—6,000 in Vancouver alone—in their homes.

The cost to the Provincial Treasury alone is approximately $450,000 a month. Ottawa adds a fixed grant of $150,000 a month.

Of these men in Relief Camps, more than 75% are not residents of British Columbia.

Special Health Camps are maintained exclusively by the Province, and these and other health services cost approximately $18,000 a month. Medical care is given and special attention paid to diet and sanitation for those unfit for labor.

Recreational and physical training centres for unemployed youth have been established and placed under expert supervision. Enrolment of three thousand attests to the popularity of these centres.

Your Government, apart from all this, is maintaining an average of seventy-five hundred physically unfit men a month in the City of Vancouver. Last year this branch of Relief administered from Hamilton Hall cost $1,000,000.

The cost of relief for the year 1934 was as follows: Provincial Government, $4,468,785; Dominion Government, $2,302,630; Municipalities, $1,250,062. This does not include costs of Relief Camps to the Dominion Government.

It has never been contended by your Government that a public works programme is of itself a sufficient solution to the unemployment problem. Every encouragement should be given to private endeavour, but it is considered that a public enterprise programme is a practical and reasonable method of lessening our difficulties in a form useful to all. Private endeavour has not been able and will not be able for some time to absorb all the employable now out of work. With so many necessary things to be done public undertakings should play a prominent part in improving the economic and social life of our people.

THE COMPANY

London Pacific Exploration Company Limited was incorporated after nearly two years of survey and investigation for the purpose of developing grade of fields in the Flathead Valley in British Columbia and on the Flathead Structure in Montana. Dr. Axel A. Olsson, Consulting Paleontologist and Geologist of Glensville, New York, reported on one of the outstanding geological features in America, has reported on these properties to the company, and on his direct recommendation, the following holdings were acquired in these two districts.

PROPERTIES

FLATHEAD VALLEY, 6,150 ACRES
In the Flathead Valley the Company's own land holdings consist of 6,150 acres on Sage Creek, Flathead Creek, and the Flathead River, all of which are situated in the Flathead Valley, British Columbia. THE COMPANY'S HOLDINGS DIRECTLY ADJACENT TO THE COLUMBIA RIVER, 1 MILE.

MONTANA, 7,175 ACRES

The Company's controlled holdings in this area cover the entire Flathead Structure, which is located in a direct line with the Two Feet Fold of Wyoming and between the known Cut Creek and Cut Bank Fields in Montana.

CONCLUSION

A few of the outstanding features of this offering are summarized as follows:
1. $50,000.00 has already been spent in exploring and proving these oil lands.
2. An exceptionally competent Board of Directors, combined with experienced management.
3. Highest obtainable geological direction to date of oil lands.
4. Access to three separate and distinct structures, with substantial, definable holdings on each, thus providing wide diversification of interests.
5. Through holdings in both Canada and the United States, the Company automatically has access to two proven markets.
6. The Company has low capitalization.
7. Geologists have verbally stated that production running into thousands of barrels per day is well within the realm of probability on each of the structures controlled by the Company.
London Pacific Exploration Company Limited offers the investor an unusual opportunity to participate in the development of one of the most promising oil fields in the world. The Company's holdings are situated in the Flathead Valley, British Columbia, and on the Flathead Structure in Montana. The Company's holdings are situated in the Flathead Valley, British Columbia, and on the Flathead Structure in Montana. The Company's holdings are situated in the Flathead Valley, British Columbia, and on the Flathead Structure in Montana.

spring-wheat territory and a bearish estimate of the world's probable consumption of wheat.

WORLD NEEDS DOW

G. F. B. Broomfield, English grain statistician, estimated the world would require only 544,000,000 bushels of wheat this crop year, a reduction of 25,000,000 bushels from his August forecast. He reduced Canada's share from 250,000,000 to 200,000,000 bushels.

Delivery of wheat against the maturing May contracts began this week, but the market effect was slight. It was presumed most of the wheat was delivered to the government agency, headed by John I. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian wheat pools.

It was understood Mr. McFarland took delivery of wheat direct by an arrangement with terminal elevators, thus circumventing the claims of the government holdings. It was believed 20,000,000 bushels of No. 1 and 2 Northern were delivered this week.

By ALEX. FRINGLES

Canadian Press Financial Writer
Toronto, May 7.—The present week witnessed a drop in the price of bar silver that was almost as sensational as the rise seen in the previous week. Speculation on the metal question were reflected in the Canadian and United States stock market movements, the silver stocks topping the trade in the decline just as they have been the market feature in the advance.

Friday's developments in both metal and share markets were in the nature of a recovery from the reaction which appeared to have, temporarily, at any rate, touched bottom on Thursday.

SILVER HOLDINGS
Traders in metal and in mining shares looked in vain to Washington this week for guidance on the silver question and as the official silence became disturbing, many dumped their holdings and bar metal broke from 81 cents to 71½¢ on the New York commercial market and from 80½¢ to 72½¢ on the London market. The Montreal commodity market approximated the London decline.

The sharp slump in the metal quotation demonstrated quite conclusively that speculators had been mainly instrumental in pushing the price up 15 cents in the week ended April 24. When Washington failed to meet the boost by raising the price paid for domestic silver above 77.5¢, traders long in the silver market rushed to take down their profits and the heavy offerings caused the break. After four days of reaction the New York market steadied and then recovered 1½ cents yesterday and London came back one penny.

BASE METALS
The base metal shares having advanced cautiously with the rise in silver, met the decline with more stubbornness than the silver and, like the silver, were in a firming mood on Friday. Some of the main losses in the period were 1.50 for Rutanda, 14 cents for Rose Nickel Corporation, 25 cents for Falconbridge and 15 cents for Hudson Bay.

Gold stocks were again trusted with secondary interest. Bralorne met with a renewal of the recent selling pressure and it closed yesterday to show a loss of $1.10 for the week.

Consolidated Samuels, which had advanced strongly on the silver move, stood almost alone among silver producers in opposing the reaction. It closed yesterday at $158.50, showing a loss of only $1 net for the week. International Nickel had a minor net gain. Over the industrial board new-wave losses outnumbered gains.

OSTPA CLUB

On Tuesday last, the OSTPA Club of Oak Bay were the guests of the Chinese Young People at a very enjoyable evening's entertainment. The meeting opened with a capably directed devotional period, followed by a short talk on the construction of an aquarium and the value of a hobby. Following this, community singing was enjoyed, and games were played in the gymnasium. One of the most interesting features of the evening was the serving of a delicious supper consisting entirely of Chinese foods, which were much enjoyed by the visitors.

The need to the order of these messages will appear in the daily and weekly press of an early date.

B. T. Chappell Goes South

B. T. Chappell, general superintendent in British Columbia for the Canadian National Railways, was a visitor to Victoria for a few hours on Saturday on his way to southern California for a brief vacation. He was accompanied by Mrs. Chappell.

After having dinner in Victoria Mr. Chappell and his wife went to the docks and there boarded the S. S. Emma Alexander. To-day they saw the sights of San Francisco and to-morrow they will disembark at Los Angeles for a few days in southern California. They expect to return to Vancouver in two weeks.

Ship Loading Much Lumber

One of the largest single cargoes of Vancouver Island lumber to go out from Victoria aboard one ship is today being loaded at Ogden Point Piers aboard the British freighter Wellington Court.

The ship is taking approximately 1,700,000 feet of lumber for the United Kingdom. She has been here since Saturday, and will not get away until Thursday, Capt. Alfred Stuart is in command.

The big spouts of the grain elevator at the Ogden Point Piers, inactive for nearly a year, are to-day busily pouring between 7,000 and 8,000 tons of grain into the hold of the British freighter King City, Capt. Dan Davies. This ship expects to leave port in a day or two. Her destination has not yet been announced.

King Brothers are looking after both the Wellington Court and the King City.

Victorians Go on Excursions to Port Angeles and Around Gulf Islands; Special Excursion Party in From Vancouver Yesterday

Clear, sunny weather caused thousands of people over the week-end to make trips on the water as well as on land. All special excursions, as well as the regular ones, were crowded Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The excursion season started from Victoria on Saturday when the S. S. Princess Elizabeth took 718 Victorians on an afternoon and evening trip to Port Angeles under the auspices of the C.P.A. Social and Athletic Club.

The visitors had several hours in the city across the straits and returned to Victoria in the early evening.

Another party of Victorians left yesterday afternoon on the S. S. Princess Elizabeth and enjoyed an afternoon and evening cruise around the lower islands of the Gulf of Georgia. There were 548 people on this trip. The Elizabeth cruised leisurely around Salt Spring Island and returned to Victoria in the evening at 8 o'clock, when her passengers joined the throngs of people on the Causeway to witness the fireworks display.

FROM VANCOUVER
The S. S. Princess Joan came from Vancouver at 1.40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, carrying 768 passengers on a special day trip. Three hours were given the excursionists in Victoria and the Princess Joan left at 5 o'clock in the afternoon to return to the mainland port.

Travel on the regular boats between Victoria and Vancouver was particularly good over the week-end, transportation officials reported. Motor travel was also reported good. Some Victorians went to Port Angeles or Anacortes with their cars on Saturday afternoon and spent the week-end motoring in the Puget Sound country. The S. S. Princess Elaine, on the Vancouver-Nanaimo run, had a busy weekend, this route being extremely popular. Many Vancouver people spent the week-end at upland points, the leading center of attraction being Qualicum Beach.

Liner Docks From England

Inbound from ports in the United Kingdom via the Panama Canal and California ports, the Purness motorship Pacific Enterprise, Capt. J. Isdale, reached Rithet Piers yesterday evening at 10 o'clock and proceeded to Vancouver at 1.30 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. A. Barr and Miss F. M. Barr, left the Pacific Enterprise at this port and will spend a holiday in Victoria at the Hotel Victoria and Mrs. F. W. Barr of Beacon Street.

T. J. Pinnas and Mrs. G. C. W. Pinnas, who are aboard the Pacific Enterprise en route to Cortes Island while Mr. and Mrs. J. George were destined to White Rock. They continued with the ship to Vancouver.

While at Rithet Piers the Pacific Enterprise discharged 100 tons of general British freight and loaded a parcel of cargo for the return voyage to London.

NAME FIRST SHIP FOR CHURCHILL

Winnipeg, May 7.—The first vessel to sail into Churchill, Manitoba's northern seaport, this season will be the Ashworth of the Dalgleish Line. The Ashworth will load cargo at Newcastle and Antwerp for western Canada. She will sail from England in July.

THE ANNUAL ICEBERG HUNT STARTS IN ATLANTIC

Warm weather breaks mountains of ice off northern glaciers, creating a menace for shipping as the huge floes drift south. Then ice patrols set out to hunt the bergs into harmless pieces with their huge dock guns. Here is shown a view from the deck of the United States coast-guard cutter Mendota, as it cautiously approaches a huge floe in the north Atlantic. After a quick survey of its extent, the booming of the Mendota's guns signaled the death knell of this peril to shipping.

TWO DANISH SHIPS HERE

Siam Comes in For Scrap Lumber and India Arrives to Give Her Fuel Oil

"Our new ship for the Pacific Coast-European service will have many fine new features, such as few combined freight and passenger vessels have," stated Christian Jensen, general manager of the Pacific Coast for the Danish East Asiatic Line, who is in Victoria aboard the motorship India.

The new ship has not yet been named, Mr. Jensen said this morning, and until she is duly christened he would have to withhold an interesting announcement. He expected, he stated, she would be launched this week, and would probably commence her maiden voyage sometime in July, arriving in Victoria in late August or early September.

Asked if the new ship would call at Victoria, Mr. Jensen said: "We could not give you a definite answer. We get a great deal of business here."

Mr. Jensen boarded the India at Grey's Harbor and came here aboard her. He will proceed with her to New Westminster and then return to San Francisco by train.

Walter Walton of the firm of B. L. Johnson and Walton of Vancouver, British Columbia agents for the company, came to Victoria to meet the India. While in Victoria Mr. Jensen and Mr. Walton conferred with Ted and Henry King, local agents for the Danish West Asiatic.

At the Ogden Point docks the India met her sister-ship, the Siam, which arrived here from the Orient to load scrap metal and lumber. She will be here several days. The India called to give the Siam some fuel oil and she will proceed to mainland ports early to-morrow morning.

Capt. P. C. W. Franzen is master of the Siam, while Capt. K. Krarut has command of the India.

EMPRESS DUE IN MORNING

Bringing a large list of passengers, including a number of European residents of the Orient en route home on furlough, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada will reach the William Head quarantine station to-morrow morning at 6 o'clock from the Orient and Honolulu. Capt. A. J. Halley this morning advised James Macfarlane, local agent.

The Canada will come up to Rithet Piers about 7 o'clock and will remain here two hours before proceeding to Vancouver. Yesterday evening at 8 o'clock the ship was 600 miles from Victoria, according to a report picked up at the Consulate Wireless Station.

Gulf Excursions Start Wednesday

The popular excursions through the Gulf Islands aboard the ferry Cy Peck will be inaugurated for the 1935 season with a cruise to Ganges Harbor and Mayne and Galiano Islands on Wednesday, May 8.

These cruises—which are run in conjunction with the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Limited—will be continued every Wednesday during the coming summer months. Special coaches leave the Coach Lines Depot at Broughton Street at 9 a.m. and connect with the ferry at Swartz Bay at 10 a.m. The ferry will return to Swartz Bay at 6 p.m., the passengers arriving back in Victoria at 7 p.m.

Reservations have already been received for the inaugural cruise by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, and it is expected that a goodly number of Victorians and visitors will make the trip.
